ABSTRACT

This document provides educational researchers with the locale type for every public school in Kentucky, Virginia, West Virginia, and Tennessee as of 1995-96. The classification system used to assign locale types was developed by Frank H. Johnson and had been adopted by the National Center for Education Statistics, Common Core of Data, Public School Universe. On the basis of its city and zip code, each public elementary and secondary school in the United States is given a locale assignment of 1 to 7: (1) large city, (2) mid-size city, (3) urban fringe of large city, (4) urban fringe of mid-size city, (5) large town, (6) small town, and (7) rural. Locale assignment is based on the Office of Management and Budget's determination of Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas and the Census Bureau's method of defining areas as either urban or rural. In this document, data tables for each state are arranged alphabetically by school district or county. Within each school district or county, individual schools are listed with street address, city, zip code, telephone number, locale type, and total student enrollment. (SV)

AEL's mission is to link the knowledge from research with the wisdom from practice to improve teaching and learning. AEL serves as the Regional Educational Laboratory for Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia, and West Virginia. For these same four states, it operates both a Regional Technology in Education Consortium and the Eisenhower Regional Consortium for Mathematics and Science Education. In addition, it serves as the Region IV Comprehensive Center and operates the ERIC Clearinghouse on Rural Education and Small Schools.

Information about AEL projects, programs, and services is available by writing or calling AEL.

Preface

This document is designed a reference tool for individuals involved in educational research and development projects, particularly those working with school communities in Appalachia Educational Laboratory's region (Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia, and West Virginia).

I want to extend thanks to those who contributed to the completion and development of this project. First, to Merrill Meehan for his guidance, continued support, and advice. I'd also like to acknowledge Sandra Orletsky for the freedom she allowed me in developing this project. Jonathan Caldwell deserves many thanks for his technical assistance. Finally, to Frank Johnson who helped me track down a very crucial set of locale types.

Introduction

The purpose of this data compilation is to provide a single document containing the locale type for every public school within AEL's region (West Virginia, Kentucky, Virginia, and Tennessee). The classification system used in the following tables to assign locale types was developed by Frank H. Johnson and has been adopted by the National Center for Education Statistics (NCES) Common Core of Data (CCD) Public School Universe. Under this system each public elementary and secondary school in the United States is given one of seven locale assignments. The seven locales are: 1) Large City, 2) Mid-size City, 3) Urban Fringe of Large City, 4) Urban Fringe of Mid-size City, 5) Large Town, 6) Small Town, and 7) Rural.

Locale assignment is determined by matching the zip code and city fields of school mailing addresses with files in the U.S. Bureau of the Census. Information used in determining locale came from two major sources: 1)the Office and of Management and Budget's (OMB) determination of Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas (SMSA's) and 2) the Census' method of defining areas as either rural or urban. Population density was also taken into account while assigning locale types.

The OMB defines SMSA's as areas containing a central city or urbanized area with one or more bordering counties. A region is classified as an SMSA if its central city or urbanized area has a population of 50,000 or more with the entire area having a population of no less than 100,000 (75,000 in New England).

The Census Bureau defines areas as either urban or rural. Regions are considered urban if they have a central city and surrounding area with a combined population of 50,000 or more. The Census also considers nearby regions of urban centers consisting of at least 2,500 urban as well. However, any place with a population of less than 2,500 is deemed rural. Additionally, the Census determines certain zip codes as rural.

In short, locale codes are determined by using Census definitions of urban and rural, and OMB distinctions of SMSA's. Additionally, locale codes split SMSA's into two categories, rather than one. They are: large and mid-size cities. Urban regions are also subdivided. They are grouped into small and large towns. Below is a detailed description of each locale type:

1. Large City—A central city of Consolidated Metropolitan Statistical Area (CMSA) with the city having a population greater than or equal to 250,000.
2. Mid-size City—A central city of a CMSA or Metropolitan Statistical Area (MSA), with the city having a population less than 250,000.
3. Urban Fringe of Large City—Any incorporated place, Census Designated Place, or non-place territory within a CMSA or MSA of a Large City and defined as urban by the Census Bureau.
4. Urban Fringe of Mid-size City—Any incorporated place, Census Designated Place, or non-place territory within a CMSA or MSA of a Mid-size City and defined as urban by the Census Bureau.

5. Large Town—An incorporated place or Census Designated Place with a population greater than or equal to 25,000 and located outside a CMSA or MSA.
6. Small Town—An incorporated place or Census Designated Place with a population less than 25,000 and greater than 2,500 and located outside a CMSA or MSA.
7. Rural—Any incorporated place, Census Designated Place, or non-place territory designated as rural by the Census Bureau.

The following tables provide data for all public schools within West Virginia, Kentucky, Virginia, and Tennessee. In addition to locale type, school contact information and school enrollment data are present.
